Benefits of our Masterclass webinars

We're delighted to announce the launch of our new live webinars for line managers and HR professionals. They offer the same high level of training as our face-to-face sessions and are particularly good for organisations with employees based at multiple sites or who work remotely.

- Choose from a range of masterclasses, including our Cancer in your workplace in-house and open sessions, or bespoke training.
- Each masterclass is highly interactive and features a range of activities, including the analysis of real case studies, small group sessions and whole class discussions.
- Class sizes are limited to ensure the best learning experience.
- Our longer masterclasses will help you develop a tailored action plan for your organisation.
- Participants can get their questions answered by the UK's leading cancer and work experts.
- Participants receive lifelong access to our excellent e-learning course – Cancer in the workplace for managers.
