QUESTIONS TO ASK ABOUT WORK AND CANCER

Work and cancer series – for people living with cancer
If I hadn’t seen the Macmillan leaflet, I wouldn’t have known support was available. Tracey (Macmillan welfare rights officer) helped me fill in the forms.

The Macmillan work and cancer series

Macmillan produces a range of information about work and cancer.

For people living with cancer:
- Work and cancer
- Questions to ask about work and cancer

For employers:
- 10 top tips for line managers
- Managing cancer in the workplace

For people caring for someone with cancer:
- Working while caring for someone with cancer
- Questions for carers to ask about work and cancer

For self-employed people with cancer:
- Self-employment and cancer

More information:
- Your rights at work when you are affected by cancer
About this leaflet

This leaflet has questions you may need to ask about work issues if you are affected by cancer. It can help you find the information you need at every stage.

We hope this leaflet makes you feel more confident about dealing with any workplace issues you might have. Some of the questions in it may not be relevant to you. You do not have to read it from start to finish. You can use it to focus on the questions that apply to your situation.

We have split the questions into four sections:

• initial work issues and time off work
• preparing to go back to work
• going back to work
• if you decide not to go back to work.

If you are self-employed, our booklet Self-employment and cancer has more information about dealing with work issues relevant to you (see page 22).

How to use this leaflet

The questions you need to ask and when you ask them will depend on your situation. You may need to ask some questions earlier or later than suggested in this leaflet. You can decide what works for you.

The questions in each section are split into three areas:

• health
• money
• work.

Next to each question, there is a list of the people or places you can go to for answers.

✓ A large tick shows a service or person who is most likely to be able to answer your question.

✓ A small tick shows a service or person who may also be able to help.

You might want to write down what questions you need to ask, and what you find out.

Quotes

In this leaflet, we have included quotes from Maureen, who is on the cover. To share your experience, visit macmillan.org.uk/shareyourstory
Services we mention

There are a lot of services that may be able to help answer your questions. These are the services we mention in this leaflet:

• Oncology team – this is your cancer team at the hospital. It may include oncologists, radiologists and cancer nurses. In some services, it may also include a social worker.

• GP service – this is your doctor’s surgery.

• Occupational health professionals – these may include workplace health and safety advisers, nurses, physiotherapists, counsellors, and GPs. They may not be available at every workplace. Your work may offer an external occupational health service. You can find out more from your employer or HR manager.

• Line manager – this is your manager at work.

• HR manager – this is someone in the human resources or recruitment team at your work.

• Advisory services – these are organisations that offer guidance, including help resolving work disputes (see pages 24 to 27).

• Charities and support groups – these may include a Macmillan work support adviser (see page 23), other cancer support charities (see pages 24 to 27), local support groups and online forums.

• Unions – these are trade or labour unions that you may be a member of.
Questions about initial work issues and time off work

These may be the first questions you have about work after being diagnosed. They include questions about taking time off work.

This leaflet has been written, revised and edited by Macmillan Cancer Support’s Cancer Information Development team. It has been approved by the Working Through Cancer Programme team at Macmillan. It is based on content originally produced in partnership with Loughborough University and Affinity Health at Work, as part of the National Cancer Survivorship Initiative.

Thanks to the people affected by cancer who reviewed this edition, and those who shared their stories.

We welcome feedback on our information. If you have any, please contact us at cancerinformationteam@macmillan.org.uk

This leaflet has questions you may need to ask about work issues if you are affected by cancer. It can help you find the information you need at every stage.

We hope this leaflet makes you feel more confident about dealing with any workplace issues you might have.

We’re here to help everyone with cancer live life as fully as they can, providing physical, financial and emotional support. So whatever cancer throws your way, we’re right there with you. For information, support or just someone to talk to, call 0808 808 00 00 (7 days a week, 8am to 8pm) or visit macmillan.org.uk

Would you prefer to speak to us in another language? Interpreters are available. Please tell us in English the language you would like to use. Are you deaf or hard of hearing? Call us using NGT (Text Relay) on 18001 0808 808 00 00, or use the NGT Lite app.

Need information in different languages or formats? We produce information in audio, eBooks, easy read, Braille, large print and translations. To order these, visit macmillan.org.uk/otherformats or call our support line.
